$32,327.05 RAISED FOR RED CROSS WAR FUND

Reports From Towns Show That Three Districts Have Already Exceeded Their Allotments, "Showing the Boys That Ulster is Never in the Rear."

What are we doing here, boys, what are we doing here?
Going to raise the cash to give our soldier boys some cheer.
And when we meet a tightwad man, we'll shout right in his ear
"Shell out, shell out,
Our soldiers need some cheer."

What are we doing here, boys, what are we doing here?
Showing the boys that Ulster is never in the rear.
Giving them reason to say, boys, when the news they hear,
"Oh, joy, oh, joy,
We're proud we came from there."

That is one of the songs they sang at the close of the first day of the Red Cross campaign in Kingston, and they sang it as though they meant it, too, for they did mean it.

The proof of their earnestness is that the proceeds of the first day of the campaign amounted to $12,752.05.

This, added to the advance subscriptions of $19,575, makes a total of $32,327.05 of the $40,000 allotted to Kingston, with five more days for the campaign to go.

From the out of town sections that sent in reports came news as cheering. Denning, allotted $200, reported $1,000 in one subscription. Two districts in Wawarsing, each allotted $1,000, reported $1,120 and $1,034.25 respectively.

Is Ulster county "going over the top" and will its boys overseas feel "proud they came from there?"

They will.
Ulster county will not only make its money talk. It will make it shout.

The sight presented at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening, when the team workers of every rank assembled for the day's report, was indeed an inspiring one. The great room had been handsomely decorated with American flags and Red Cross flags and posters, through courtesy of Vincent A. Gorman, chairman of the Campaign Publicity Committee. A clear and comprehensive bulletin has been mounted at the front end of the gym, against the gallery railing, whereon will appear from day to day the amounts raised in city and county.

So great had been the collections for the day that it was fully half past nine before the workers were ready to adjourn to the gymnasium, and where they were all seated at long tables; a ward chief and his workers at a table.

After the singing of "America" and the asking of a blessing by the Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, Mr. Schoonmaker, chairman of campaign announced that each day the ward chief whose workers received the largest amount in contributions would receive a banner, and each one whose workers had made the most collections would also receive a banner. At the close of the campaign, the words collecting the largest amount, and the one having included the greatest number of contributions would also, each receive a banner.

Following the serving of the supper, which was interspersed with the spirited singing of war songs by all present, led by Harry P. Dodge, the ward chiefs reported as follows, amid great applause:

	Chief	Number Contributions	Amount
Ward 1—	Palmer Canfield, Jr.	232	1924 50

Harold Van Deusen, was the only representative of Ward 5, owing to the fact, as he stated, that all the other members of their teams were out working for the Red Cross, and would report later.

Mr. Eagan of Ward 13, whose territory is so scattered, said that to date the best he could do was to report progress, which he could do heartily.

Then came the announcement of the collections from the factories and various manufacturing plants visited by the Industrial Committee, whose work was not entirely completed. It was as follows:

As the ward chiefs made their reports, they related many incidents of their day's work, showing how the spirit of giving, not getting, is growing in our city, and also showing that our people are more and more appreciating what our fighting men are doing for us and the world today.

After the ward chiefs and Mr. Van Slyke had concluded their report, Mr. Schoonmaker stated that not alone was the city doing its part, which it surely is, but the county had already sent in some inspiring returns, as follows:

Town of Denning, first election district, $1,000 (allotment, $200), with more to come. The $1,000 was given by Julius Forstmann.
Town of Hurley, First election district, $81.50 (allotment, $250); Second election district, $150 and pledges to go over the top.
Town of Marlborough, First election district, $64.70 (allotment, $250).

Town of Woodstock, district 1 and 2, $650 (allotment, $1,500).

Among the announcements made after the returns were in, and given out by Y. M. C. A. Secretary Thornberry, was one to the effect that tonight chairs will be placed in the gallery of the gymnasium, and as many as can be accommodated will be welcome to gather there at 9 o'clock to add their enthusiasm over the receipt of the returns.

After the reports and returns were all in, brief and inspiring address-

DAY'S WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE

The magnificent success of the French in the Loire sector of the Flanders battle front is menacing the grip of the Germans on the all-important Kemmel Hill, six miles southwest of Ypres.

French troops gained highly important ground in the hill country over a front of 4,000 yards, creeping nearer to the height of Kemmel itself, which the Germans captured at such enormous cost of human life.

To use the expression made famous by Marshal Joffre the Anglo-British forces on the battle fronts are "nibbling" at the German lines in a series of highly successful minor operations. But while these enterprises are called local in comparison with the mighty battles that have been raging on the Picardy and Flanders battle fields, earlier in the war they would have been called big engagements.

Following the capture of Ville Sur Avre, on the northern end of the Picardy front, the British attacked on the southern end, the Flanders zone last night, gaining ground near Merville.

(Merville lies from seven to eight miles northwest of the British battle zone, North of Bethune, in the district where the Germans have been heavily shelling the Allied lines for several days.)

Gigantic duels with big guns continue over the greater part of the battle zone, North of Albert, in the Hebuterne zone, where many European war critics look for the next German blows to fall, there was intense shelling and also between Nieppe Forest and Meteren, about midway along the Flanders battle line.

Fate of Czar in Teutons' Hands.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 21.—The Romanoff family of Russia are not interned in Crimea as has been reported, according to official news from Moscow. The former imperial family arrived at Kiev, capital of Ukraine, on May 13, it was stated.

The foregoing cablegram would indicate that the fate of the former Russian czar and his family is now in the hands of Germany. Kiev is controlled by the Ukrainian, German and Austrian forces in southern Russia.

Stocked With Trout.
Ten cans containing 5,000 trout apiece were sent last week from the Margaretville state hatchery to Middleburgh, Schoharie county, to be placed in the Schoharie creek. A similar shipment was sent to Worcester, Otsego county, to be placed in the Schenectady creek.

NEGRO DESPERADO FOUGHT CAPTORS

Barriaded in House Shot and Killed Three Officers When Wanted as Witness, Thinking He Was Charged With Crime.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 21.—With four bullet wounds in his body Herman L. Copeland, negro, was captured today after a brisk pistol battle in a house where he barriaded himself after murdering two police officers and a deputy sheriff. Lieut. David T. Dunning, Patrolman John A. Conrad and Deputy Sheriff L. H. McPartland.

Detective William Wright volunteered, with Lieut. William H. Bremner, to force the issue with the murderer. They found the negro cowering under a bed and after an exchange of shots and a hand-to-hand encounter overpowered him.

Copeland was wanted as a witness in an embezzlement case. It is supposed he believed he was wanted for the crime himself.

He has been in ill health for some time but it was not until recently that his condition became serious.

SAYS HUSBAND WAS CRUEL.

Counsel Fees and Alimony Granted to Mrs. Accurso in Separation Case.
In the matter of Mary Commarata Accurso against her husband, Peter Accurso, Justice Hasbrouck Monday granted the motion of Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, attorney for the plaintiff, asking for $75 counsel fees and $6 a week alimony in an action of separation. Mrs. Accurso is 20 years old. She alleges that her husband violently assaulted her on several occasions, and on March 19, 1918, abandoned her. On March 19, Justice Hasbrouck granted an order of arrest. Accurso is now out on $1,000 bail. He is represented by Frank W. Brooks.

ORDERS ISSUED FOR BIG DEMONSTRATION

To be Held Here Next Monday When the Men Entrain for Camp Wadsworth, S. C.—Parade Will Be Larger Than Ever—Working Men Will March—Red Cross Division.

Grand Marshal D. G. Atkins has issued his orders for the parade and demonstration to be held here Monday morning, May 27, in honor of the men from Division 1 and 2 of Ulster county who will entrain on the 9:05 o'clock West Shore train for Camp Wadsworth, S. C.

It is expected that this will be the largest and most impressive demonstration held yet, because of the large number of men who will entrain. The two divisions will furnish a total of 123 men.

The parade will form at Main and Fair streets. As on other occasions when the men entrained, at 8:25 the fire bell will strike five times, the signal for each organization to be ready to march. At 8:30 the fire bell will strike five times the signal for the parade to start.

The line of march will be the same as on previous occasions, and the command will be dismissed at the West Shore station.

A pleasing feature of the parade will be the National Red Cross Society of Ulster County. Several hundred women will march in this organization, which will be in the third division.

Another popular feature will be the singing of patriotic songs by the pupils of the high school, and the Rotary Club. This feature made a big hit in the last parade.

It is hoped that there will be a large turnout of working men, especially from the factories. They are invited to march in the second division with the business men and employees and citizens.

The working men need not "dress up" for the occasion. They are invited to march in their working clothes and help by their presence to give "our boys" the feeling that their sacrifices are fully appreciated by the people at home.

Merchants are requested to close their stores until after the entrainment, so that every person can unite in the demonstration and parade.

On previous occasions there were not as many flags out as there should have been. Surely an occasion like this is a fitting time to display Old Glory.

The committee hopes that every business house and residence will be decorated with the Stars and Stripes. Let's give the men a rousing demonstration, one that will make them realize that we who have to stay at home appreciate what "our boys" are doing for us.

The orders issued by the grand marshal are as follows:

Headquarters of Grand Marshal, Kingston, N. Y., May 21, 1918.

As the ward chiefs made their reports, they related many incidents of their day's work, showing how the spirit of giving, not getting, is growing in our city, and also showing that our people are more and more appreciating what our fighting men are doing for us and the world today.

After the ward chiefs and Mr. Van Slyke had concluded their report, Mr. Schoonmaker stated that not alone was the city doing its part, which it surely is, but the county had already sent in some inspiring returns, as follows:

Town of Denning, first election district, $1,000 (allotment, $200), with more to come. The $1,000 was given by Julius Forstmann.

Town of Hurley, first election district, $51.50 (allotment, $250); second election district, $150 and pledges to go over the top.

Town of Woodstock, district 1 and 2, $630 (allotment, $1,500).

Among the announcements made after the returns were in, and given out by Y. M. C. A. Secretary Thornberry, was one to the effect that tonight chairs will be placed in the gallery of the gymnasium, and as many as can accommodate will be welcome to gather there at 8 o'clock to add their enthusiasm over the receipt of the returns.

After the reports and returns were all in, brief and inspiring address-

BARMANN ESTATE HEARING. Objection Filed to Accounting of the Trustees.

There was a hearing in the estate of Peter Barmann before Surrogate G.H. Monday Mrs. Susan Barmann and Peter Barmann, Jr., are the executors and trustees. Mrs. Barmann filed a report or accounting of the trustees which was objected to by the attorneys for Peter Barmann, Jr.

Benjamin McIlhenny of Albany has been retained by the Barmann children to represent their interests. Roscoe Irwin represents Mrs. Barmann, and Messrs. Brincker, Canfield and Brincker are the attorneys for Peter Barmann, Jr.

Mr. McIlhenny asked for an extension of time to go over the matter as he had only been recently retained. The accounting involves large expenditures and the running of the brewery business by the trustees. The matter was adjourned until May 27th at 2 o'clock.

es were made by Miss Georgiana Clafflin, who has been doing excellent Red Cross work in New York, being too young to be accepted for overseas service; H. H. Flemington, Judge James Jenkins, with Mr. Schoonmaker concluding and a few more words of satisfaction at the results of the campaign to date, and a few more words of encouragement and appreciation to the workers. Miss Moynihan's singing of Dixie was fully appreciated.

One spirit predominated the entire meeting, that of doing all possible to help our own men and our allies with the war.

DAVID WAR NEWS

AT A GLANCE

The magnificent success of the French in the Loire sector of the Flanders battle front is menacing the grip of the Germans on the all-important Kemmel Hill, six miles southwest of Ypres.

French troops gained highly important ground in the hill country over a front of 4,000 yards, creeping nearer to the height of Kemmel itself, which the Germans captured at such enormous cost of human life.

To use the expression made famous by Marshal Joffre the Anglo-British forces on the battle fronts are "nibbling" at the German lines in a series of highly successful minor operations. But while these enterprises are called local in comparison with the mighty battles that have been raging on the Picardy and Flanders battle fields, earlier in the war they would have been called big engagements.

Following the capture of Villa Sur Acre, on the northern end of the Ploeghe front, the British attacked on the southern end of the Flanders zone last night, gaining ground near Merville.

(Merville lies from seven to eight miles northwest of the British railhead and base position of Bethune in the district where the Germans have been heavily shelling the Allied lines for several days.)

Gigantic duels with big guns continue over the greater part of the battle zones. North of Albert, in the Helunter zones, where many European war critics look for the next German blows to fall, there was intense shelling and also between Nieppe Forest and Meteren, about midway along the Flanders battle line.

Fate of Czar in Teutons' Hands. By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 21.—The Romanoff family of Russia are not interned in Crimea as has been reported, according to official news from Moscow. The former imperial family arrived at Kiev, capital of Ukraine, on May 13, it was stated.

The foregoing cablegram would indicate that the fate of the former Russian czar and his family is now in the hands of Germany. Kiev is controlled by the Ukrainian, German and Austrian forces in southern Russia.

Stocked With Trout. Ten cans containing 5,000 trout, spiced were sent last week from the Margaretville state hatchery to Middleburgh, Schoharie county, to be placed in the Schoharie creek. A similar shipment was sent to Worcester, Otsego county, to be placed in the Schoharie creek.

ORDERS ISSUED FOR BIG DEMONSTRATION

To be Held Here Next Monday When the Men Entrain for Camp Wadsworth, S. C.—Parade Will Be Larger Than Ever—Working Men Will March—Red Cross Division.

Grand Marshal D. G. Atkins has issued his orders for the parade and demonstration to be held here Monday morning, May 27, in honor of the men from Division 1 and 2 of Ulster county who will entrain on the 9:05 o'clock West Shore train for Camp Wadsworth, S. C.

It is expected that this will be the largest and most impressive demonstration held yet, because of the large number of men who will entrain. The two divisions will furnish a total of 122 men.

The parade will form at Main and Fair streets. As on other occasions when the men entrained, at 8:25 the fire bell will strike five times, the signal for each organization to be ready to march. At 8:30 the fire bell will strike five times the signal for the parade to start.

The line of march will be the same as on previous occasions, and the command will be dismissed at the West Shore station.

A pleasing feature of the parade will be the National Red Cross Society of Ulster County. Several hundred women will march in this organization, which will be in the third division.

Another popular feature will be the singing of patriotic songs by the pupils of the high school, and the Rotary Club. This feature made a big hit in the last parade.

It is hoped that there will be a large turnout of working men, especially from the factories. They are invited to march in the second division with the business men and employees and citizens.

The working men need not "dress up" for the occasion. They are invited to march in their working clothes and help by their presence to give "our boys" the feeling that their sacrifices are fully appreciated by the people at home.

Merchants are requested to close their stores until after the entrainment, so that every person can unite in the demonstration and parade.

On previous occasions there were not as many flags out as there should have been. Surely an occasion like this is a fitting time to display Old Glory.

The committee hopes that every business house and residence will be decorated with the Stars and Stripes. Let's give the men a rousing demonstration, one that will make them realize that we who have to stay at home appreciate what "our boys" are doing for us.

The orders issued by the grand marshal are as follows:

Headquarters of Grand Marshal. Kingston, N. Y., May 21, 1918. The following orders for the parade in honor of the conscripts who will entrain at the West Shore station at 9:05 o'clock a. m., Monday, May 27, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF New York, by the Grace of God, Free and Independent—To Shadrach H. H. Smith, late of the city of Kingston, Ulster county, deceased, presented to said surrogate court should not be admitted to probate and recorded as a Will of real and personal estate in pursuance of the statute on the petition of William D. Brinnier, Jr., of the city of Kingston, the executor named therein.

In Testimony Whereof, we have caused the seal of said surrogate court to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Walter N. (L.S.) GILL, surrogate of said court, the 13th day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

REAL USE FOUND FOR BASKETBALL RIG

Those residents of Kingston who rush along the state in their autos miss much of the beauty and simplicity of rural life that is freely discovered to those who take the more sequestered paths and take them calmly and deliberately, like Admiral Higginson, Captain Everett and Judge Jenkins. To these nature reveals herself in her kindest moods and in the most picturesque ways.

Recently Charles Snyder, the genial and accommodating cashier of the National Ulster County Bank, was quietly returning to his summer camp at Lake Katrine, when instead of continuing along the Saugerties road on his wheel, turned into the old neighborhood road and there came upon the finely worked market garden of Fred Henneger, that is well worth seeing. For several years he has had it equipped with a sprinkler system and it would be hard to find a weed growing, so carefully is the whole place cultivated. All of which tends toward producing the fine vegetables and fruits that find their way to the tables of Kingston residents through the untiring efforts of Charles H. Van Eitlen, who has a practical monopoly of these choice products.

While all this was interesting to Mr. Snyder his attention was drawn to something on the opposite side of the road close to the cemetery that was neither fruit or vegetable, that reminded him of the story of Nebuchadnezzar as told him in Sunday school, for there on all fours were three persons astride the long straight rows of carrots in the garden of Louis Shaw. Careful examination showed that the industriously pulling the tiny weeds from the rows of carrots and working along on their knees at a rate that would bring joy to any practical gardener's heart.

This again was interesting and held the passerby's watch still further until interest was changed to amazement when the foremost weeder reached the end of a row and stood erect, revealing six foot of American womanhood arrayed in basketball costume in the person of Mabel Munson, next came Elinor Shaw, finally Susie Shaw, rose and completed the trio, who had been working all afternoon in the hot sun, putting basketball costumes to a new use.

We have become accustomed to seeing pictures of duchesses working machines in factories, dressed up for the business but it remained for the American girl to forget frivolity when the need arose and desecrate the much cherished basket ball rig by using it weeding carrots.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 21, 1918.

This week The Freeman is going to publish Red Cross news and all the Red Cross news it can get before it pays any attention to other local matters not of great importance. The raising of the Red Cross War Fund is the big matter before the community and the nation this week, and The Freeman will treat it accordingly. Ample notice was given that this was to be Red Cross Week and there can be no excuse for those who have attempted to impose their comparatively petty affairs on the public at this time, diverting attention from the big matter before the people. If the American people would show their appreciation of the soldiers overseas, instill confidence in those preparing for active service and make the sincerity of their message beyond question, they should remember that "money talks" and the more there is of it the louder it speaks. Ulster County soldiers in the service are familiar with the record their home county has made in the past and are anxiously awaiting the result of the present Red Cross campaign to tell them whether interest in their welfare is growing or waning. Thus far they have been proud of the interest shown in them at home, and the cheer and good feeling engendered by this interest have been reflected back in their letters to friends, which in turn have helped to "keep the home fires burning," so that we have had an endless chain of encouragement and good feeling from which no link must be taken at this time.

Upwards of 180 Ulster County men will leave next week for Camp Wadsworth, the largest contingent that the county has sent thus far. Farewell parades are a fine thing, but would be of little account if not backed up by something more substantial. "Money talks," and the sure way to "send them away with a smile" and prove that the smile is real, is to back it up this week with a record-breaking fund for the Red Cross. Then the men who leave next week will know that our promises of support are sincere. Ulster County people own upwards of $5,000,000 of Liberty Bonds and if the bondholders contribute six months' interest on the money they have loaned the Government, our allotment would be more than raised from this source alone. With the dollars and dimes of those who are not bondholders added, we should go far beyond. And the farther we go the more the boys "over there" will be assured that the folks at home are supporting them.

We copy elsewhere an editorial from the New York Times regarding the candidacy of Attorney General Lewis for the Republican nomination for Governor of this State. It is gratifying to men of all parties and opinions to see a public man come forward for principle uncompromisingly instead of "pussyfooting" around trying to get the support of everybody. Our own opinion is that Mr. Lewis has taken a position which ought to commend itself to everybody possessing good judgment regarding public affairs. We hope that his rivals for the gubernatorial nomination and aspirants for membership in the State Legislature will announce their adherence to these sensible policies.

When we were at war twenty years ago the Oregon, rushing at her utmost speed, required 65 days to steam from San Francisco via Cape Horn to Key West. Now super-dreadnoughts built on the Pacific coast are booked to make the trip from San Francisco to New York in nine days. Of course, the super-dreadnoughts outdo the old-time battleship, but 99 per cent of the improved time is due to the Panama Canal.

Attorney General Gregory has invited all citizens to inform the United States District Attorneys or the Department of Justice of disloyal words or acts among persons of their acquaintance. No gentleman likes spying, but in these times duty must be placed above preference; and, if here and there the Attorney-General's appeal for help should be abused by persons unworthily seeking mere private revenge, the Department of Justice, while achieving the general results so urgently desired, will know how to weigh evidence and protect the relatively few persons who may be unjustly accused.

On May 30, the day of fasting and prayer, the people are asked by proclamation of the President not only to pray for "victory to our armies in their fight for freedom," for the gift of "wisdom to those who take counsel" on the country's behalf in this time of struggle and trial, and for a steadfast willingness among our people "to make sacrifice to the utmost" in the great cause, but for forgiveness of our sins and shortcomings as a people and the purification of our hearts in order that we "may see and love the truth, accept and defend all things that are just, and purpose only righteousness."

STILL BOMBARDING CHURCHES.

Bethune Shelled Setting City in Flames—Cathedral in Ruins.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 21.—The French city of Bethune, just behind the Flanders battlefield, has been set on fire by incendiary shells from German artillery and it is in flames, said news agency despatch from the front today.

The famous cathedral at Bethune is in ruins.
Bethune is an important British railroad position between 17 and 18 miles north of Arras. It is one of the local objectives of the Germans who have delivered numerous blows in an effort to break through at that point and seize the railroad. At the present time the German line lies about three and one-half miles from Bethune.

GERMAN "BUCKETS" LATEST MISSILE

American Front Showered With Galvanized High Explosive Shells—Our Boys Now Fitted With Nickname by Allies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

With the American Army on the French Battle Front, May 20.—(Noon).—A strong Boche patrol attempted to surround part of an American patrol at dawn, but the main body poured in such a hot fire from the rifles that the enemy was scattered. The Germans used both hand grenades and rifles.

During the night our front line is occasionally kept under machine gun fire. The Boche artillery and infantry, however, are unusually quiet.

When they bombard the Germans use quite a number of high explosive shells made from galvanized iron. These have been nicknamed "G. I. Buckets" by the doughboys.

The aviators on both sides are busy.

The American doughboys are still hunting for a name that will fit both the southern and northern states. The suggestion has been made that they be called "Yankee Dixie Boys" instead of "Yankee Doodle Boys." It is claimed that this will be a compromise for both the south and the north, giving each a place in the title.

The consensus of opinion is that "Yankee" should have a part in any nickname that is chosen.

Thomas Burke, an English author, has suggested that the Americans be called "Attaboys," which is typical of American pep.

It is expected that the Germans will soon renew their offensive and the Americans are getting impatient to pitch in.

Our casualties from gas and shrapnel continue normal.

BIG SIX MAY NOT RETURN.

Prominent State Senators Have "An Eye on Higher Up."

Six of the most prominent state senators, according to a dispatch from Albany, may not come back for another term.

Elton R. Brown from Watertown; Jefferson County, for years leader of the majority and one of the biggest political figures in the state, it is said, is not over-desirous of returning to Albany next year. Senator Brown's unwillingness to come back is attributed to the lack of harmony so manifested in 1918. He has, so far, declined to make known his attitude.

Senator George F. Argetsinger of Rochester, where men seeking political favor will have to line up bravely with Governor Whitman of his Rochester opponent for the gubernatorial chair.

Senator George H. Whitney of Mechanicville, it is believed, will forsake the senate to become head of the recently authorized state drug control commission at $5,000 a year. Senator Whitney is a pharmacist and was head of the Whitney legislative committee which conducted so thorough an investigation into the drug business. It was at his instigation that the committee framed the bill calling for the organization of a commission to control the distribution and sale of habit forming drugs and his appointment by the governor to head the commission is expected daily.

Singhanton William H. Hill from Binghamton way, has his eye on congress.

Senator George A. Slater of Westchester county, some time ago announced his intention not to seek reelection. He is looking for a position on the surrogate's bench.

Another senator with eyes on a judgeship is said to be Charles D. Newton, Republican from Ontario and Yates counties. He will not be back.

NOT PLEASED WITH AWARDS.

Gilboa Citizens Demand Compensation for Removals.

Many Gilboa citizens are displeased at the awards made by the commissioners to fix the valuation of property taken in connection with the reservoir to be built in that village for the New York city water supply and some of them have entered protests over the awards and hope to get a rehearing.

The trouble is that the parties do not agree on basis of settlement. The New York city authorities appear to believe that the valuation should be fixed on the actual selling price of the property at the time the proceedings were commenced. The owners hold that the commission should consider the expense of removal and the cost of purchasing homes or business places elsewhere.

MEMORIAL DAY AT MILTON.

Customary Observance Under the Lead of Ketcham Post, G. A. R.

Decoration Day services will be held at the hall, Milton, on May 30th at 2 p. m., as usual. The Mariborough Band will be in attendance and will render their best patriotic music. An eminent speaker will be provided for the occasion who will make an eloquent address. There will be many and various other exercises, and no effort will be spared by members of Ketcham Post to make the occasion interesting and instructive.

The teachers of the public schools in that neighborhood are requested to prepare their pupils to take some part in these exercises, and they will be glad of any assistance in music or otherwise. Everybody is cordially invited to come out and share in the entertainment, and by their presence and influence make the day a memorable one. These exercises have been held throughout the country on Memorial Day since the Civil War. They honor the dead, remind the coming generation of the sacrifices of the war for the preservation of the Union, and teach patriotism and honor and respect for the flag. On no occasion during the past generation has it been so important that every citizen should renew his patriotism and

DISSENTS TO DAMAGES AWARDED

Commissioner Ehlerman's Opinions Differ as to Compensations Allowed in Claims for Property Taken for Ashokan Dam.

Carl Ehlerman, Jr., of New York city, member of Business Damage Commission No. 5 of the New York Water Supply, has filed a dissenting report on several awards made by the commission for property taken in construction of the Ashokan dam.

Commissioner Ehlerman believes the following claims should be dismissed:

Claim of Edna May Boice of Kingston for damage to land in the town of Olive, in the sum of $1,000. The claimant was awarded $50. The claimant owned about twelve and one half acres of woodland.

Claim of Virgil Merrihue of Olive for $500. Awarded $25. The claimant owned about nine and a half acres of land without buildings and with practically no buildings on it.

Claim of Minnie Barringer of Olive for $300. Awarded $25. The claimant owned a little more than one acre of land located about seven and a half miles from the old Brodhead station on the U. & D. R. R.

Commissioner Ehlerman also is unable to concur in the report of the majority of the commission in certain claims for the diversion of water from the Esopus creek, as to the amount of damages awarded.

In the award made for the George Hutton property, situated near the Kingston viaduct, he believes the award should be cut from $300 to $125. The amount claimed was $2,000.

That the award made for damages to the Aaron and Ralph Cohen property, a farm and country home with frontage of 600 feet on the Esopus creek, should be cut from $800 to $250. The amount claimed was $3,000.

The commissioner believes the award made for damages to the property of Elmore Cure, having a creek frontage of 1,170 feet, should be $375 instead of $700. The amount claimed was $3,000.

The commissioner believes the award of $300 made to Clifford Hicks at Marbletown for damage to farm is excessive and should be cut to $125. The farm is located between the state highway and Esopus creek and the construction of the dam increased the difficulty of watering the stock but has not prevented it. The damage claimed was $1,500.

Mr. Ehlerman claims that the construction of the dam has proved of benefit to W. N. Stewart, of the town of Hurley, whose land was being washed away by the creek. He thinks the award of $1,500 too high and should be $325. The amount claimed was $5,000.

In the largest award of $2,850 made by the commission to William Smith of New York for damages to recently he owned, in the town of Marbletown, he believes the award should be $1,425. The amount claimed was $4,000.

He also objected to the award of $1,100 made to John Brink of Hurley and believes the award should be $275. Mr. Brink claimed $3,000.

ST. MARY'S PLAY A SUCCESS.

"What Happened to Jones" Witnessed By Large Audience.

The young people of St. Mary's parish Monday presented "What Happened to Jones" in the school hall to a full house. The entertainment will be repeated this evening.

It was one of the most successful held by the young people in some time and every member of the cast made a decided hit. Solos were rendered by Miss Mary Oulton and Miss Katherine Harmon and a dance followed the performance. The cast was as follows:

Ebenezer Goodly, a professor of anatomy Andrew McCauley
Anthony Goodly, D. D., bishop of Ballarat Philip Doherty
Richard Heatherly, engaged to Marjorie Frederic Baker
Thomas Holder, a policeman Bernard O'Rourke

William Bigbee, an inmate of the sanatorium Bernard O'Rourke
Henry Fuller, superintendent of the sanatorium Francis Noonan
Mrs. Goodly, Ebenezer's wife Miss Margaret McNeilis
Miss Mary Oulton

Marjorie Miss M. Aurea Kelly

Alvina Starlight, Mrs. Goodly's sister Miss Kathryn Harmon
Helma, Swedish maid Miss Regina Hunt

Shackling the Tempter.

There is an adage somewhere to the effect that the fighter who loses his temper gladdens his enemy. The experts of the prize ring will tell you this is a true saying. In further proof we have the Solomonic assurance that he who is slow to anger is better than the mighty. All of which means that anger is weakening, and that the man who permits his temper to rule him has a destructive master.

Just "Substitution."

Here is a "substitution" story that will take a lot of beating. It concerns a farmer who was given a shopwalker as a farm laborer. The first morning he said to his new hand: "Take a horse and go to the station for a load of potatoes." When he arrived the station agent said: "All right, but how are you going to take them without a cart?" "Dear me," said the man, "I've forgotten the cart."—Argonaut.

THE LITTLE HOUSE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Richard Ellis viewed from the hill the miles he would have to walk in order to dine at his boarding place in the village below. When his work of road construction should be in progress he would have to consider some means of transition; the present state of the land made this difficult.

Like a white square on the hillside stood a cottage; he remembered having passed it on his upward way. What a strange, detached home it must be, far from neighboring habitation. Perhaps it might be possible to procure a light luncheon there. The door, when he reached the house, stood open, disclosing to the farthest corner one wide room. It was a remarkable room for an humble country cottage. While the floor was scrubbed glistening of varnish, the walls were lined with shelves of books.

A pictorial calendar, with a verse for each day, drew his attention; curiously, the verses were printed in German. Upon the window seat, among its artistic cushions, were scattered various maps and drawings.

Then between two bookcases opened what he had fancied to be an outer door, and a girl appeared from the interior. A glorious creature she was,

small, yet with an unmistakable air of dignity.

"I am a civil engineer—Richard Ellis," he explained; "we are going to put through a road. My boarding place in the village seemed too far away at dinner time, and I hoped to get a glass of milk and some bread at a farmhouse, but," he smiled engagingly, "I find this is decidedly not a farmhouse."

The girl gravely considered. "Still," she said, "we may be able to provide you with a cup of coffee." She moved indifferently toward the prepared table. "Make yourself at home," she invited.

In strange diffidence, the usually confident engineer obeyed. When, with her regal air, the girl had prepared his coffee, she went out into the porch. It was all pleasantly mysterious. Ellis enjoyed the perfect salad, and wondered who the deuce his queenly hostess might be. The matter of remuneration troubled him; he could imagine her scorn at the suggestion of payment. Yet he felt like an interloper calmly partaking of her food.

The girl promptly relieved him on this score. "I asked you to stay," she said, as he appeared upon the porch, "in order to gain information about the new road. Please explain to me concisely, just how and where it is going."

The engineer stared in astonishment. Her question had the sound of a command.

"It is not customary—" he began hesitatingly, and for the first time the girl laughed. "No?" she questioned, as steadily she faced him. "Then, Mr. Ellis, engineer," she challenged, "stop in again, say tomorrow, and you shall see our wonderful plans, as they are not now, but as they will be when completed."

"I do not understand you," Ellis repeated slowly. With strange reluctance he turned to depart.

The girl pointed to the village below. "Down there," she said, mockingly, "they will tell you all about me."

It was impossible to concentrate upon the duty of the afternoon because of her haunting personality.

"Who lives there?" he asked of Sammie, associate engineer.

"The lady of mystery," Sammie answered. "Why haven't you heard? She comes galloping into town on a black horse, with a great dog in tow. They have it figured out here that she's in the employ of the German government, mapping out the country and all that. Look out for the black eyes, Dickie, or she'll have you hypnotized."

To Richard's memory came quickly the girl's boasted knowledge of his work, her own avowal that she had entertained him in order to gain information.

"I came," he greeted, "to have you fulfill your promise concerning my outline of work."

In her own pretty, serious way the girl bowed, and placed in his hands the completed blueprint map of the road.

"But, how?" he asked perplexedly.

Again the girl laughed, and dropping her manner of reserve, seated herself on the step at his side.

"What am I now," she asked naively, "a defaulter in hiding, a German spy, or just disappointed in love? They have had me all three at the village."

Ellis gazed tensely into the black eyes. "What are you?" he asked.

"That is what I wanted to know myself."

"I shall only disappoint you," the girl replied. "It is so simple. My father is Lewis Kain, chief engineer. When I learned that he must be away from home long, I begged to come with him and keep house. He sent on our man to fix up this shack, and then was called away the very night of our arrival. There was no reason why I should not wait in this peaceful spot, his return. My dog is a fine body-guard. I helped father with these maps and prints—we two are great chums. That's all," she ended, and arose abruptly.

"Then I shall see you again!" cried Richard Ellis, his voice ringing with a hidden joy.

No one could have called the girl's eyes somber as she flashed him a smile. "Father will need you here often," she said.

Must Be Housecleaning.

Marjorie came in with some pussy willows. "Oh, mamma," she cried, "just see those cunning little muffs the kitties have hung out to air."

Again the girl laughed, and dropping her manner of reserve, seated herself

on the step at his side.

"What am I now," she asked naively, "a defaulter in hiding, a German spy, or just disappointed in love? They have had me all three at the village."

Ellis gazed tensely into the black eyes. "What are you?" he asked.

"That is what I wanted to know myself."

"I shall only disappoint you," the girl replied. "It is so simple. My father is Lewis Kain, chief engineer. THE KITCHEN CABINET

Not in the clamor of the street. Not in the shouts and pleasures of the throng. But in ourselves are triumph and defeat.

ARE YOUR MENUS IN A RUT?

The greatest help in planning a week's menus is the chance for variety, as it is easy then to see the lack of variety.

An occasional meal may be left vacant which may be filled with leftovers from a previous day.

The character of the menus depends upon the people who will eat it. Active children need hearty wholesome food, as do hungry men.

Whenever a heavy main dish is served a light dessert should follow, and when a light dinner, a hearty dessert.

Heavy salads fit into light luncheons and may often form the main dish, while a fruit salad makes a most acceptable dessert.

Fat meats need acid fruits and tart flavors to cut them.

Bean Soup.—Cook a pint of white beans in two quarts of water until tender, add a stalk of celery, minced, a sprig of parsley and rub through a sieve, season with bacon fat, salt, pepper, and half a cupful of sweet cream, serve hot.

Lima Bean Soup.—Pick over, wash and soak over night sufficient beans, then cook slowly until soft enough to rub through a sieve. Return the sifted beans to the fire, adding a spoonful each of flour and butter rubbed together, thin with hot milk, season with salt and pepper and add a little whipped cream. Any vegetable for flavor, like onion, parsley, or celery, may be cooked with the beans if desired for flavor.

Bishop Williams Corn Bread.—Stir together one cupful each of cornmeal and flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a half teaspoonful of soda. Add one cupful of sour cream, two eggs and beat vigorously, then bake in a hot oven 20 minutes. If sour cream is not available milk may be used with the addition of two tablespoonfuls of shortening.

Sausage and Banana.—Cook links sausages until well done and brown, take up and in fat cook bananas cut in halves crosswise, dredge with flour, and fry a golden brown, serve the sausages and bananas together.

THOSE WHO LET THEIR MONEY TALK

Contributors to the Red Cross War

Fund in Kingston City Whose Names Have Been Handed In.

If you have given to the Red Cross War Fund and your name does not appear below do not get excited just yet, for the list is not complete. Just as the meeting of workers Monday night was delayed because the money came in faster than it could be counted, so is the Freeman unable to keep its list of contributors up to date, because the names come in faster than it is possible to put them in type. But they will all appear some time—just as soon as possible. Nor will any be small. In a book that many have forgotten there is a little story of a widow who gave her mite, and the principle therein illustrated applies to the subscriptions to the Red Cross War Fund. BROKE TOMBS STONES IN NEGRO CEMETERY

Monuments on Graves of 26 Civil War Veterans, Destroyed in Cemetery on South Wall Street—Other Tomb Stones Broken By the Unknown Vandal.

About two weeks ago parties unknown entered the negro cemetery on South Wall street and deliberately wrecked a number of the grave stones. The monuments erected over the graves of twenty-six negro soldiers of the civil war were broken and buried down an embankment while about fifteen other tombstones were also ruined.

Monday George Johnson, the well known trackman, called to see Judge Schirck and gave him the names of two boys who he had learned were seen in the cemetery. The boys were summoned to appear before the judge this morning when it turned out that they were not the ones wanted as they were too small to have committed the damage.

A thorough investigation is being made and if the guilty parties are caught they will be severely dealt with.

Not in years has a crime such as that been brought to the attention of the authorities.

Mozart Always Composing.

After stating that while composing Mozart never went to the piano, Nietzsche remarks: "His imagination distinctly and vividly presented to him the whole work he had conceived." Mozart, as he told his father, was always immersed in music, went about with it all day, and liked to speculate, study and reflect. From his wife we learn that his mind was always in motion, that he was continually composing.

Our Potato Column

Article No. 4.
KEEP EVERLASTINGLY AT IT.

This is the Only Way to Prevent Potato Blights and Rots.

There are three essentials in spraying potato crops.

The first is to start early, when the vines are about six inches high.

The second is to spray so as to cover the plant—above, below, on the right side, on the left side, in front and at the back.

The third is to keep at it so that the spray covering will keep up with the growth of the plant, and be renewed as often as washed off by beating rains.

It looks easy. It is easy. But first the would-be sprayer must have the right idea.

Potato bugs cause people to start spraying early—if they did not there would be no vines left to spray, and no crop worthy the name. The bug, however, can easily be seen, and one can wait until the bug appears before spraying.

One Nozzle Per Row is Sufficient When the Vines are Young.

With blight, especially the late blight, it is different. The fungus cannot be seen, but is always lying in ambush. It is in league with the weather, since the very weather which favors the blight makes spraying difficult. Yet whenever the spores of this disease come in contact with the spray-covered leaf they are absolutely killed and the damage which they might do is saved to the farmer.

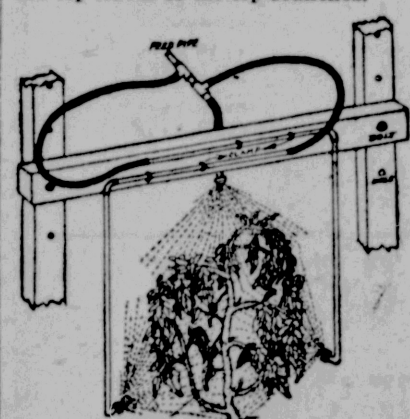

Let us make some rules about potato spraying:

1. Spray often enough to keep up with the growth of the vine.

If the spraying is started when the vines are six inches high, this means three or more sprayings during the course of the season.

2. Respray whenever the spray material is washed off by beating rains. This may sound serious, since sometimes heavy rains come almost every day; but remember, spray materials are adhesive and last a long time. Furthermore, it is in the season of beating rains that spraying is most needed and after all most profitable.

3. Cover the whole plant—not simply the top leaves of the top branches.

Thorough Spraying. Three Nozzles Needed After the Vines Pass the Blossoming Stage.—Courtesy Michigan Agricultural College.

This covering, however, should be with a mist, not with a sprinkle. It should be from beneath and from the sides as well as from the top.

A nozzle per row is sufficient to begin with. When the vines get larger, two nozzles are needed. When the vines cover the rows effective spraying cannot be done with less than three nozzles, one at the top and two at the sides. This means that plenty of power must be had so that every inch of the vines can be covered.

Sometimes would-be sprayers may mistake the quantity of spray. For the first spray, 50 gallons per acre is enough. Naturally, as the vines grow larger more spray is needed. Three times 50 may be needed when the vines are large enough to lodge between the rows.

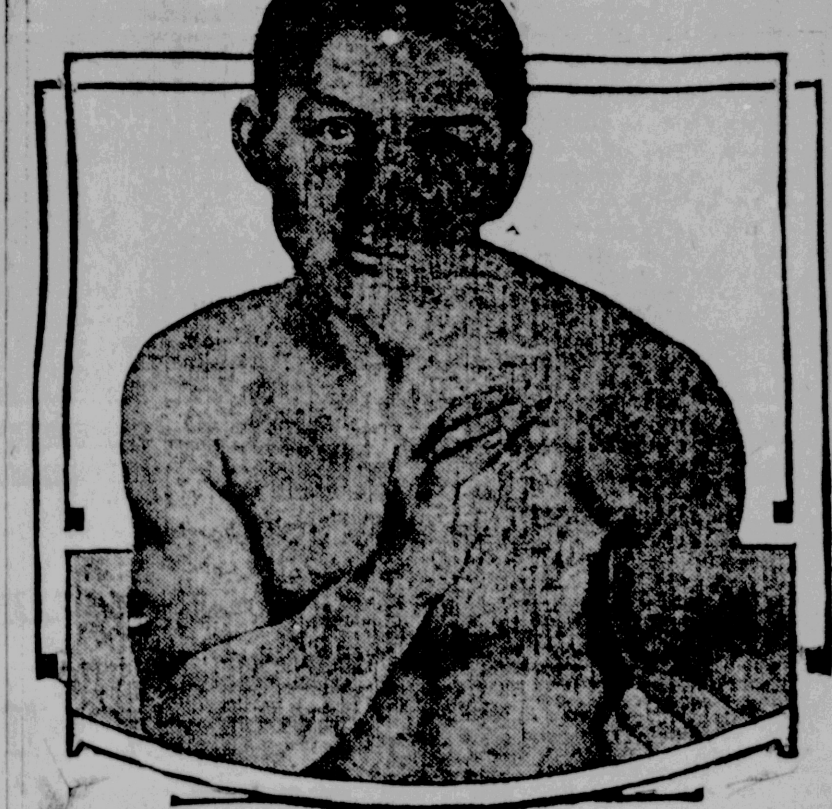

WHY IT WAS SO EASY FOR BARNUM.

P. T. Barnum said the American people liked to be fooled. He might have said they like to fool themselves. Germany produces 30 bushels of potatoes per capita and wastes none. America raises four bushels and can't give them away. Thousands of bushels of potatoes are going to waste for want of a market at a price less than the cost of production. And this in spite of the fact that cereals are hard to get at any price. Potatoes moved faster in 1917 at $3 a bushel than they have done in 1918 at $1.25. What is the answer?

Digest This Carefully.

There's no place like home if it's your home on your farm—no matter how little the home or the farm. Therefore there's no place you should like like you like your homelike home.—Exchange.

GEORGES CARPENTIER, FRENCH BOXER, UNABLE TO MAKE JOURNEY TO AMERICA

Georges Carpentier, the only man France ever had who loomed as a prospective heavyweight champion of the world, has been downed in airplane work, according to recent advices from Paris. The big fellow joined the French infantry at the start of the war and distinguished himself until wounds put him out of service.

After recuperation he joined up with the aviation section, only to be placed on his back a second time with injuries suffered through a recent fall. News of his accident did not reach the United States until a cable inquiring when he expected to come to America and carry out his promised stunt of training United States army boxers brought the news that he was only just out of the hospital again.

Carpentier is devoting himself to teaching physical culture at the Joinville Normal school in France and expects to rejoin the flyers when fully recovered. There is little hope that he will be seen in this country until after the war.

WOMEN'S REPORTS AT CLUB MEETING

Figures Show That Kingston Women Are Working With Energy to Help Along the War—An Inspiring Address by Dr. Baragwanath Appeals to Women to Make Heroic Sacrifices.

The annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the chapel of the First Dutch Church on Saturday afternoon. In addition to the election of officers, and brief reports, the women were addressed by the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath, who spoke on "Women and the War."

After the singing of America, the secretary, Mrs. Harry Winne, read the minutes of the last regular meeting, which were approved and accepted. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler showed that the receipts for the year had been $130.15 and the disbursements, $100.04, leaving a balance of $30.11 in the treasury. The disbursements included two contributions to the Red Cross. The report was accepted with thanks. Mrs. Van Hovenberg reported 23 paid individual members and 8 clubs paid up.

The Monday Club reported contributing $2 to the Women's Homeopathic Unit, and $25 to the local Red Cross. The Lowell Club reported the dispensing with the annual banquet, giving the cost of same, $25, to the Red Cross. The Coterie gave as its report, that in addition to individual Red Cross work, the Club had assisted in getting ready the books sent to the library to be forwarded to our soldiers.

The Soikanshade Club stated that they would continue their work at Red Cross chapter house during the summer. It was very evident from the reports that a sense of obligation toward our country now at war was taking a real hold upon our women, since war work seemed the only thing they considered worthy of reporting. Mrs. Gillespie of the Sunshine Society reported that as the tea recently given had cleared over $60, the society would be able to continue its work during the summer.

Four important announcements were then made. First, that of the meeting at the high school on Tuesday afternoon next, when the demonstration in canning will be given in connection with the perfecting of plans for the community canning kitchen to be operated in this city this summer. There will also be an exhibit of home made war breads.

A communication was read from the Women's Branch of the Home Defense of Ulster county, asking that the women use every means of getting the people of the city, on May 24th, Friday, to wear the Italian colors, preferably a bunch of flowers tied with the colors, red, green and white, in honor of Italy day.

And urgent request was made to every woman's club in the city to gather together before June 20 in concise statistical form, a statement of any and all war work done by said club, in order that the same may be used by the Women's Branch of the Home Defense, in formulating a record of historical value regarding the work of the women of Kingston during the war. And each club was further requested to continue keeping such a record, available for the Home Defense Committee for the remaining period of the war.

It is hoped that this data will be ready for the Women's Branch of the Home Defense when called for without further expenditure of time and effort of the latter body to secure the same.

Monday Club Exercises.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Hyman Roosa; first vice-president, Mrs. R. E. Bell; second vice-president, Mrs. P. C. Weyant; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Winne; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Ray Powley; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler.

At the close of the election, the meeting was turned over to the Monday Club, the entertaining club for the afternoon. Mrs. A. V. Kenyon, president of that club, then welcomed the audience, and stated that owing to the busy war times, when every moment was precious, the Monday Club had prepared only a very simple program, but one which they felt would be appropriate to the times and very helpful. St. James's M. E. Church had had many distinguished men in its pulpit in the past, men who had won the respect, admiration and affection of the people of the community, none to a greater extent than the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath, whom it was the privilege of the Monday Club to introduce as the speaker of the afternoon, who would address them on "Women and the War."

Dr. Baragwanath's address, which he delivered before them, was a masterpiece of the world, what the women of the world have already accomplished in this world war, in backing and supporting the men who fight, would inspire every woman present to renewed effort to help win this war. Back of every man was a woman, who exerts a dominating influence, mother, sister, wife, sweetheart, according to Dr. Baragwanath. And so to many thinkers, the cause of the barbarities of the enemy was the fact that the Germans have such a low conception of womanhood. Man receives his morality from women, who are more conscientious, more merciful, and so undoubtedly the moral inferiority of the Germans is in great part due to their disregard for womanhood, for history has taught us that we must honor women or perish from the earth.

Not only have the women of the world put forth mighty and effective effort in this war, for the betterment of every condition, but their whole attitude has been noble and inspiring; the war has itself taken on a deeper and larger significance.

Dr. Baragwanath told of hearing from his early home, overseas, and of the many women there, owning large estates, but not hesitating to give all that they could to win the war. Doing without a gardener, a butler, a coachman and often a house maid, these women have not flinched at any task, nor considered any menial. Having given up their carriages and autos, they cheerfully trudge long distances to town, carrying back with them heavy burdens. The speaker told of another young woman in this country, possessed of considerable means, who has given up her entire time to teaching blind soldiers.

In many ways, the woman's task was considered not so much easier than the man's, for her duty, no matter how heavy, lacks the adventure which inspires and stimulates the man at the front.

And the speaker begged for the same bravery, the same judgment, the same unflinching devotion in the future as the women have shown in the past, that the great war of all ages may be carried on to victory and the freedom of the world. Today America is in peril, and every man and woman is asked to do his or her duty wholly for the welfare of the world. And like Jeanie Deans in "The Heart of Midlothian," through this doing for others we will have the comfort at the last of thinking pleasantly, not of ourselves but of the good we have in our life time only as we live for others.

As the women of France, England, Belgium, Italy and other Allied countries have been living.

The meeting closed with the singing of "The Battle Song of Freedom," the words by Mrs. W. N. Fessenden.

DISSENTS TO DAMAGES AWARDED

Commissioner Ehlerman's Opinions Differ as to Compensations Allowed in Claims for Property Taken for Ashokan Dam.

Carl Ehlerman, Jr., of New York city, member of Business Damage Commission No. 5 of the New York Water Supply, has filed a dissenting report on several awards made by the commission for property taken in construction of the Ashokan dam.

Commissioner Ehlerman believes the following claims should be dismissed:

Claim of Edna May Boice of Kingston for damage to land in the town of Olive in the sum of $1,000. The claimant was awarded $50. The claimant owned about twelve and one half acres of woodland.

Claim of Virgil Merrihue of Olive for $500. Awarded $25. The claimant owned about nine and a half acres of land without buildings and with practically no buildings on it.

Claim of Minnie Barringer of Olive for $500. Awarded $25. The claimant owned a little more than one acre of land located about seven and a half miles from the old Broadhead station on the U. & D. R. R.

Commissioner Ehlerman also is unable to concur in the report of the majority of the commission in certain claims for the diversion of water from the Esopus creek, as to the amount of damages awarded.

In the award made for the George Hutton property, situated near the Kingston viaduct, he believes the award should be cut from $300 to $125. The amount claimed was $25,000.

That the award made for damages to the Aaron and Ralph Cohen property, a farm and country home with frontage of 600 feet on the Esopus creek, should be cut from $800 to $250. The amount claimed was $8,000.

The commissioner believes the award made for damages to the property of Elmore Cure, having a creek frontage of 1,170 feet, should be $375 instead of $700. The amount claimed was $3,000.

The commissioner believes the award of $300 made to Clifford Hicks at Marlinton for damage to farm is excessive and should be cut to $125. The farm is located between the state highway and Esopus creek and the construction of the dam increased the difficulty of watering the stock but has not prevented it. The damage claimed was $1,500.

Mr. Ehlerman claims that the construction of the dam has proved of benefit to W. N. Stewart, of the town of Hatter, whose land was being washed away by the creek. He claims the award of $1,500 too high and should be $335. The amount claimed was $5,000.

In the largest award of $2,650 made by the commission to William H. H. of New York, for damages to property he owned in the town of Marlinton, he believes the award should be $1,450. The amount claimed was $40,000.

He also objected to the award of $300 to John D. D. of Marlinton, believing the award should be $15. Mr. Brink claimed $3,000.

ST. MARY'S PLAY A SUCCESS.
What Happened to Jones? Witnessed By Large Audience.

The young people of St. Mary's parish Monday presented "What Happened to Jones?" in the school hall to a full house. The entertainment will be repeated this evening.

Shackling the Tempter.
There is an adage somewhere to the effect that the fighter who loses his temper gladdens his enemy. The expert of the prize ring will tell you this is a true saying. In further proof we have the Solomonian assurance that he who is slow to anger is better than the mighty. All of which means that anger is weakening, and that the man who permits his temper to rule him has a destructive master.

Just "Substitution."
Here is a "substitution" story that will take a lot of beating. It concerns a farmer who was given a shopwalker as a farm laborer. The first morning he said to his new hand: "Take a horse and go to the station for a load of potatoes." When he arrived the station agent said: "All right, but how are you going to take them without a cart?" "Dear me!" said the man, "I've forgotten the cart."—Argonaut.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to thank the friends, relatives, neighbors and all for their kindness, sympathy, in the long sickness and death of my husband, Orval Terwilliger. Also for the beautiful floral tributes. His wife, ALICE TERWILLIGER.—Advertisement.

THE LITTLE HOUSE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Richard Ellis viewed from the hill the miles he would have to walk in order to dine at his boarding place in the village below. When his work of road construction should be in progress he would have to consider some means of transition; the present state of the land made this difficult.

Like a white square on the hillside stood a cottage; he remembered having passed it on his upward way. What a strange, detached home it must be, far from neighboring habitation. Perhaps it might be possible to procure a light luncheon there. The door, when he reached the house, stood open, disclosing to the farthest corner one wide room. It was a remarkable room for an humble country cottage. While the floor was scrubbed glistening of varnish, the walls were lined with shelves of books.

A pictorial calendar, with a verse for each day, drew his attention; curiously, the verses were printed in German. Upon the window seat, among its artistic cushions, were scattered various maps and drawings.

Then between two bookcases opened what he had fancied to be an outer door, and a girl appeared from the interior. A glorious creature she was,

small, yet with an unmistakable air of dignity.

"I am a civil engineer—Richard Ellis," he explained; "we are going to put through a road. My boarding place in the village seemed too far away at dinner time, and I hoped to get a glass of milk and some bread at a farmhouse, but," he smiled engagingly, "I find this is decidedly not a farmhouse."

The girl gravely considered. "Still," she said, "we may be able to provide you with a cup of coffee." She moved indifferently toward the prepared table. "Make yourself at home," she invited.

In strange diffidence, the usually confident engineer obeyed. When, with her regal air, the girl had prepared his coffee, she went out into the porch. It was all pleasantly mysterious. Ellis enjoyed the perfect salad, and wondered who the deuce his queenly hostess might be. The matter of repaying her scorn at the suggestion of payment. Yet he felt like an interloper calmly partaking of her food.

The girl promptly relieved him on this score. "I asked you to stay," she said, as he appeared upon the porch, "in order to gain information about the new road. Please explain to me concisely, just how and where it is going."

The engineer stared in astonishment. Her question had the sound of a command.

"It is not customary—" he began hesitatingly, and for the first time the girl laughed.

"No," she questioned, as steadily she faced him. "Then, Mr. Ellis, engineer," she challenged, "stop in again, say tomorrow, and you shall see your wonderful plans, as they are not now, but as they will be when completed."

"I do not understand you," Ellis repeated slowly. With strange reluctance he turned to depart.

The girl pointed to the village below. "Down there," she said, mockingly, "they will tell you all about me."

It was impossible to concentrate upon the duty of the afternoon because of her haunting personality.

"Who lives there?" he asked of Sammie, associate engineer.

"The lady of mystery," Sammie answered. "Why, haven't you heard? She comes galloping into town on a black horse, with a great dog in tow. They have it figured out here that she's in the employ of the German government, mapping out the country and all that. Look out for the black eyes, Dickie, or she'll have you hypnotized."

To Richard's memory came quickly the girl's boasted knowledge of his work, her own avowal that she had entertained him in order to gain information.

"I came," he greeted, "to have you fulfill your promise concerning my outline of work."

In her own pretty, serious way, the girl bowed, and placed in his hands the completed blueprint map of the road.

"But, how?" he asked perplexedly.

Again the girl laughed, and dropping her manner of reserve, seated herself

on the step at his side.

"What am I now," she asked naively, "a defaulter in hiding, a German spy, or just disappointed in love? They have had me all three at the village."

Ellis gazed tensely into the black eyes. "What are you?" he asked. "That is what I wanted to know myself."

"I shall only disappoint you," the girl replied. "It is so simple. My father is Lewis Kain, chief engineer. When I learned that he must be away from home long, I begged to come with him and keep house. He sent on our man to fix up this shack, and then was called away the very night of our arrival. There was no reason why I should not wait in this peaceful spot, his return. My dog is a fine body-guard. I helped father with these maps and prints—we two are great chums. That's all," she ended, and arose abruptly.

"Then I shall see you again!" cried Richard Ellis, his voice ringing with a hidden joy.

No one could have called the girl's eyes somber as she flashed him a smile. "Father will need you here often," she said.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Not in the clamor of the street. Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng. But in ourselves are triumph and defeat.

ARE YOUR MENUS IN A RUT?

The greatest help in planning a week's menus is the chance for variety, as it is easy then to see the lack of variety. An occasional meal may be left vacant which may be filled with leftovers from a previous day.

The character of the menus depends upon the people who will eat it. Active children need hearty wholesome food, as do hungry men.

Whenever a heavy main dish is served a light dessert should follow, and when a light dinner, a hearty dessert.

Heavy salads fit into light luncheons and may often form the main dish, while a fruit salad makes a most acceptable dessert.

Fat meats need acid fruits and tart flavors to cut them.

Bean Soup.—Cook a pint of white beans in two quarts of water until tender, add a stalk of celery, minced, and a bunch of parsley and rub through a sieve, season with bacon fat, salt, pepper, and half a cupful of sweet cream, serve hot.

Lima Bean Soup.—Pick over, wash and soak over night sufficient beans, then cook slowly until soft enough to rub through a sieve. Return the sifted beans to the fire, adding a spoonful each of flour and butter rubbed together, thin with hot milk, season with salt and pepper and add a little whipped cream. Any vegetable for flavor, like onion, parsley, or celery, may be cooked with the beans if desired for flavor.

Bishop Williams Corn Bread.—Sift together one cupful each of cornmeal and flour, three tablespoonsful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a half teaspoonful of soda. Add one cupful of sour cream, two eggs and beat vigorously, then bake in a hot oven 20 minutes. If sour cream is not available milk may be used with the addition of two tablespoonsful of shortening.

Sausage and Banana.—Cook links, sausages until well done and brown, take up and in fat cook bananas cut in halves crosswise, dredge with flour, and fry a golden brown, serve the sausages and bananas together.

UNDERNEATH THE
CITY HALL DOME

It was grievance day today at the city assessor's office but only a few called to see Assessor Morris Block to complain of their assessments.
The school tax falls due in August.
What the amount will be is not as yet known, as the education board has not submitted its budget.

Although summer is here no effort has been made to take down the storm houses erected at the two entrances to the lower corridor of the city hall. The benches were placed in the City Hall Park today, however.

City Hall Janitor Richard Dawe is wondering if the supply committee is going to furnish him with a vacuum cleaner he asked for at the last meeting of the city fathers.

Speaking of Janitor Dawe, he now has a new hat. He had a new straw hat Monday but he attended the Red Cross rally at M. C. A. that evening and forgetfully placed his hat on a chair and then sat down on it.

department. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the

WIT AT BREAKFAST TABLE

Thin Boarder, as Usual, Is There With
New and Wonderfully Brilliant
Conundrum.

"Got a new one this morning?" said
the blond typewriter to the thin boarder as he took his accustomed place at the breakfast table.

"Sure thing," answered the young man as he reached for his paper napkin. "What is the difference between a successful poet and a pre-nologist?"

"Did you say 'successful poet'?" interrogated the pessimistic newspaper man.

"That's what I said," was skinny's utterance.

"Well, there ain't no such animal,"
said the scribe.

"Sure there is. Now, what's the difference between him and the pre-nolo-gist?"

"One makes his money in lumps and the other in bumps," ventured the brunette bookkeeper, with a tizzle.

"Wrong," came from the thin man.
"One deals with poetical feet and the other with prosaic heads," suggested the bank clerk, with the red tie.

"Wrong as usual," replied skinny.
"One feels with his heart and the other feels with his hands," put in the sentimental lady with the wrist watch.

"Not at all," was skinny's rejoinder.
"Well, shoot it!" came the chorus of boarders.

"I will. Listen: The poet makes money from his own head and the pre-nologist from the heads of others."

"STAR" BOARDER
BEAT UP HUBBY

Clement Lord, a Discharged Soldier,
Wanted to be Boss in John Edin-
ger's Home and When Ordered Out
Assaulted Head of House.

The funny columns of the newspapers for years past has been filled with stories of the "star boarder"
and his doings, but an incident from real life was unfolded in police court
this morning when Clement Lord, a discharged soldier, was arraigned before Judge Schirick on a charge of beating up John Edinger of 146 Elmendorf street, at whose home he boarded. Clement pleaded guilty to the charge and was jailed for six months by the court.

From the facts as unfolded to Judge Schirick and the police on Monday it developed that Lord had served time in the army prison at Fort Leavenworth and was discharged last August and also discharged from the army. He was sent to prison at that time for larceny.

Lately he has been boarding at the Edinger home, and according to Edinger he did not pay any board, and more than that wanted to run
the house and several times had ordered the head of the house out of it.
The Edingers have three small children.

Evidently the wife's sympathy was with the star boarder for she sat with him in court and stated she had come to court to swear in his behalf.

Monday Edinger paid a visit to see Judge Schirick and at that time he was advised to return home and order Lord to leave the premises.

Edinger did not meet with much success for it was only a little later
when he hurried back to the city hall
with a badly bruised eye and swore out a warrant for Lord's arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Sergeant Pinner and he went to the Edinger home where he found Lord in possession and promptly placed him under arrest. Lord was released on bail furnished by his father, who resides on Emerick
street, for his appearance in court
this morning.

From Lord's actions in court today
it struck every one that he was a
"hard case."

Mrs. MacMillan, of the Social Service Bureau, was also present in court
and stated she had received a number of complaints.

Edinger when questioned said that after seeing the way his wife acted with Lord he had no further desire to live with her but that he would care for the children.

After Lord had been sentenced to the county jail and removed from court the wife and husband were go-ten together in the private room of Judge Schirick's where the matter was fully discussed. At the close of this session it was decided to hold a matter up for a few days.

It was brought out at the trial that Edinger makes $26 a week and of
that amount gives all but two dollars
to his wife.

ATTORNEY GENERAL
LEWIS'S PLATFORM

The New York Times says:

Attorney General Lewis seeks the Republican nomination for Governor by methods which no politician of the right mental and moral pliancy and pliancy can approve.
Mr. Lewis sticks, and will stick, strictly to the business of his office.
He doesn't hide his opinions in vagueness, round off the angles of his beliefs. He isn't afraid to say what he thinks. He doesn't koozoo to this or that collection of voters.
He is against the [national] woman suffrage amendment, the prohibition amendment. "The Federal Constitution," he says, "is an instrument of union, and should not be made an instrument of discord." He favors the submission to the people of this state of a prohibition amendment to the State Constitution.
Who knows, in fact, what the people of New York think about license and prohibition. The local option elections record simply an indecisive difference of opinion. Before the legislature undertakes to foist federal prohibition upon this state and other states, wouldn't it be well to find out if New York wants to be dry?

Mr. Lewis favors a literacy test for voters. He advocates the restoration of the State Convention, his members to be chosen at a direct primary. "In order that the party's principles and policies may find authoritative expression," "The party's candidates," he adds,
"should be bound by the party's declaration of principles."

There is courage, there is common sense, somewhat uncommon in politics, in Mr. Lewis's platform. He makes his issues clear and sharp.
Any Republican who votes in the primaries for Mr. Lewis will know just what he is voting for. There is nothing cloudy or politic in his course. The primaries don't exist, however, for the purpose of encouraging that sort of candidate.

Pancakes Muscle Makers.
It is a common mistake to suppose that to get the necessary strength to hard manual labor a heavy meat diet is necessary. This is far from correct. Muscular labor does not materially affect the demand for minerals and proteins, but rather for starches, fats, and sugars. Therefore any additional wastage through muscular effort could be much better repaired by pancakes and sirup than by roast beef, for as much moisture and heat are wasted as tissue, so it is fuel that is required.—Popular Science Monthly.

WOMEN'S REPORTS AT CLUB MEETING

Figures Show That Kingston Women Are Working With Energy to Help Along the War—An Inspiring Address by Dr. Baragwanath Appeals to Women to Make Heroic Sacrifices.

The annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the chapel of the First Dutch Church on Saturday afternoon. In addition to the election of officers, and brief reports, the women were addressed by the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath, who spoke on "Women and the War."

After the singing of America, the secretary, Mrs. Harry Winne, read the minutes of the last regular meeting, which were approved and accepted. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler showed that the receipts for the year had been $130.15 and the disbursements $140.64, leaving a balance of $30.11 in the treasury. The disbursements included two contributions to the Red Cross. The report was accepted with thanks. Mrs. Van Hovenberg reported 23 paid individual members and 8 clubs paid up.

The Monday Club reported contributing $2 to the Women's Homeopathic Unit, and $25 to the local Red Cross. The Lowell Club reported the dispensing with the annual banquet, giving the cost of same, $25, to the Red Cross. The Coterie gave as its report, that in addition to individual Red Cross work, the Club had assisted in getting ready the books sent to the library to be forwarded to our soldiers.

The Solkanishade Club stated that they would continue their work at Red Cross chapter house during the summer. It was very evident from the reports that a sense of obligation toward our country now at war was taking a real hold upon our women, since war work seemed the only thing they considered worthy of reporting. Mrs. Gillespie of the Sunshine Society reported that as the tea recently given had cleared over $60, the society would be able to continue its work during the summer.

Four important announcements were then made—First, that of the meeting at the high school on Tuesday afternoon next, when the demonstration in canning will be given in connection with the perfecting of plans for the community canning kitchen to be operated in this city this summer. There will also be an exhibit of home made war breads. A communication was read from the Women's Branch of the Home Defense of Ulster county, asking that the women use every means of getting the people of the city, on May 24th, Friday, to wear the Italian colors, preferably a bunch of flowers tied with the colors, red, green and white, in honor of Italy day.

And urgent request was made to every woman's club in the city to gather together before June 15 in concise statistical form, a statement of any and all war work done by said club, in order that the same may be used by the Women's Branch of the Home Defense, in formulating a record of historical value regarding the work of the women of Kingston during the war. And each club was further requested to continue keeping such a record, available for the Home Defense Committee for the remaining period of the war. It is hoped that this data will be ready for the Women's Branch of the Home Defense when called for, without further expenditure of time and effort of the latter body to secure the same.

Monday Club Exercises. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Hyman Roosa; first vice-president, Mrs. R. E. Bell; second vice-president, Mrs. P. C. Weyant; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Winne; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Ray Powley; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler. At the close of the election, the meeting was turned over to the Monday Club, the entertaining club for the afternoon. Mrs. A. V. V. Kenyon, president of that club, then welcomed the audience, and stated that owing to the busy war times, when every moment was precious, the Monday Club had prepared only a very simple program, but one which they felt would be appropriate to the times and very helpful. St. James's M. E. Church had had many distinguished men in its pulpit in the past, men who had won the respect, admiration and affection of the people of the community, none to a greater extent than the Rev. Dr. Baragwanath, whom it was the privilege of the Monday Club to introduce as the speaker of the afternoon, who would address them on "Women and the War."

Dr. Baragwanath's Address. Evidently the speaker felt that to have set before them what the women of the world have already accomplished in this world war, in backing and supporting the men who present to renewed efforts to help win this war. Back of every man was a woman, who exerts a dominating influence, mother, sister, wife, sweetheart, according to Dr. Baragwanath. And so to many thinkers, one cause of the barbarities of the enemy was the fact that the Germans have such a low conception of womanhood. Man receives his moral, conscientious, more merciful, and so the Germans are in great part due to their disregard for womanhood, for history has taught us that we must honor women or perish from the earth.

Not only have the women of the world put forth mighty and effective effort in this war, for the betterment of every condition, but their whole attitude has been noble and inspiring; the war has itself taken on a deeper and larger significance. Dr. Baragwanath told of hearing from his early home, overseas, and of the many women there, owning large estates, but not hesitating to give all that they could to win the war. Doing without a gardener, a butler, a coachman and often a house maid, these women have not flinched at any task, nor considered any mental. Having given up their carriages and autos, they cheerfully trudge long distances to town, carrying back with them heavy burdens. The speaker told of another young woman in this country, possessed of considerable means, who has given up her entire time to teaching blind soldiers.

In many ways, the woman's task was considered not so much easier than the man's, for her duty, no matter how heavy, lacks the adventure which inspires and stimulates the man at the front. And the speaker begged for the same bravery, the same judgment, the same unflinching devotion in the future as the women have shown in the past, that the great war of all ages may be carried on to victory and the freedom of the world. Today America is in peril, and every man and woman is asked to do his or her duty wholly for the welfare of the world. And like Jeanie Deans in "The Heart of Midlothian," through this doing for others we will have the comfort at the last of thinking pleasantly, not of ourselves but of the good we have in our life time done to others. Today we must live only as we live for others, as the women of France, England, Belgium, Italy and other Allied countries have been living.

The meeting closed with the singing of "The Battle Song of Freedom," the words by Mrs. W. N. Fessenden.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

It was grievance day today at the city assessor's office but only a few called to see Assessor Morris Block to complain of their assessments. The school tax falls due in August. What the amount will be is not as yet known, as the education board has not submitted its budget.

Although summer is here no effort has been made to take down the storm houses erected at the two entrances to the lower corridor of the city hall. The benches were placed in the City Hall Park today, however.

City Hall Janitor Richard Dawn is wondering if the supply committee is going to furnish him with the vacuum cleaner he asked for at the last meeting of the city fathers.

Speaking of Janitor Dawn, he now has a new hat. He had a new straw hat Monday but he attended the Red Cross rally at the Y. M. C. A. that evening and forgetfully placed his hat on a chair and then sat down on it.

The health board is holding a special meeting this afternoon with Dr. H. P. Souther, of the state health department. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the advisability of establishing a child welfare station in Kingston.

WIT AT BREAKFAST TABLE

Thin Boarder, as Usual, Is There With

New and Wonderfully Brilliant

Conundrum.

"Got a new one this morning?" said the blond typewriter to the thin boarder as he took his accustomed place at the breakfast table.

"Sure thing," answered the young man as he reached for his paper napkin. "What is the difference between a successful poet and a phonologist?"

"Did you say 'successful poet'?" interrupted the pessimistic newspaper man.

"That's what I said," was skinny's utterance.

"Well, there ain't no such animal," said the scribe.

"Sure there is. Now, what's the difference between him and the phonologist?"

"One makes his money in lumps and the other in bumps," ventured the brunette bookkeeper, with a giggle.

"Wrong," came from the thin man. "One deals with poetical feet and the other with prosaic heads," suggested the bank clerk, with the red tie.

"Wrong as usual," replied skinny.

"One feels with his heart and the other feels with his wrist watch."

"Not at all," was skinny's rejoinder. "Well, shoot it," came the chorus of boasters.

"STAR" BOARDER BEAT UP HUBBY

Clement Lord, a Discharged Soldier.

Wanted to be Boss in John Edin-

ger's Home and When Ordered Out

Assaulted Head of House.

The funny columns of the newspapers for years past, has been filled

with stories of the "star boarder"

and his doings, but an incident from

real life was unfolded in police court

this morning when Clement Lord, a

discharged soldier, was arraigned before Judge Schrick on a charge of

beating up John Edinger of 146 El-

mendorf street, at whose home he boarded. Clement pleaded guilty to the charge and was jailed for six months by the court.

From the facts as unfolded to

Judge Schrick and the police on Monday it developed that Lord had spent time in the army prison at

Fort Leavenworth and was discharged last August. He also discharged from the army. He was sent to prison at that time for larceny.

Lately he has been boarding at the Edinger home, and according to

Edinger he did not pay any rent, and more than that wanted to be-

the house and several times had ordered the head of the house out of it. The Edingers have three small children.

Evidently the wife's sympathy was

with the star boarder for she sat with

to court to swear in his behalf.

Monday Edinger paid a visit to see

Judge Schrick and at that time he was advised to return home and order Lord to leave the premises.

Edinger did not meet with much

success for it was only a little later

when he hurried back to the city hall

with a badly bruised eye and swore

out a warrant for Lord's arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Sergeant Phinney and he went to the Edinger home where he found Lord in possession and promptly placed him under arrest. Lord

was released on bail furnished by his father, who resides on Emerick

street, for his appearance in court

this morning.

From Lord's actions in court today

it struck every one that he was a

"hard case."

Mrs. MacMillan, of the Social Ser-

vice Bureau, was also present in court

and stated she had received a number of complaints.

Edinger when questioned said that

after seeing the way his wife acted

with Lord he had no further desire

to live with her but that he would

care for the children.

After Lord had been sentenced to

the county jail and removed from court the wife and husband were gotten together in the private room of

Judge Schrick's where the matter was fully discussed. At the close of this session it was decided to hold a meeting up for a few days.

It was brought out at the trial that

Edinger makes $26 a week and of

that amount gives all but two dollars

to his wife.

Boulevard.

The word boulevard means "bul-work" or fortification, and thus has direct reference to the old ramparts.

But since the middle of the nineteenth century the title has been applied to new thoroughfares not traced on the site of an old encinte.
